

BERRY AMENDMENT COMPLIANCE

The Berry Amendment (10 U.S.C. §2533a) amended on January 6, 2007 prohibits the Department of Defense from procuring certain items, either as end products or components, unless said items have been grown, reprocessed, reused, or produced in the United States.

The restricted items are:

1. food
2. clothing
3. tents
4. tarpaulins
5. covers
6. natural fibers or yarns
7. natural fiber products
8. natural fabrics (including all fibers and yarns therein)
9. synthetic fabrics (including all fibers and yarns therein)
10. fabric blends (including all fibers and yarns therein)
11. items of individual equipment (items in Federal Supply Class 8465) made from or containing fibers, yarns, fabrics, or materials (including all fibers, yarns, fabrics, or materials therein)
12. hand tools
13. measuring tools

Section 833 of the Act added language to 10 U.S.C. 2533a stating that the restriction applies to clothing "and the materials and components thereof, other than sensors, electronics*, or other items added to, and not normally associated with, clothing (and the materials and components thereof)."

Sekisui Voltek's product lines, Volara® and Volextra® are compliant with the Berry Amendment because

1. These products are produced in the United States of America at either our Lawrence, MA or Coldwater, MI plant
2. We do not use any of the restricted items as components of these products.
