

California Proposition 65 Notice

Proposition 65, also known as the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986 was enacted as a California ballot initiative in November 1986. The Proposition was intended by its authors to protect California citizens and the State's drinking water sources from chemicals determined by a state agency to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm. Over 900 chemicals are now on California's list of Proposition 65 chemicals.

Prop 65 requires that a "clear and reasonable warning" be provided by a Company in the course of doing business, who manufactures, assembles, handles, distributes, stores, sells, or transfers a consumer product which he or she knows to contain a chemical known to the state to cause cancer or reproductive toxicity to any person to whom the product is sold or transferred.

Sekisui Voltek is committed to providing compliant, safe products to our customers. Test results from an independent third party, ISO 17025 accredited laboratory, concluded the products tested do not expose consumers to Lead or Cadmium at levels that exceed the published safe harbors criteria established by the State of California. Therefore, no warnings are required to be included with these products if they are sold to consumers in California.
